MINEOLA'S FAIR OPENS. A GAY DAY FOR THE QUEENS COUNTY FARMERS.

Crowds Turn Out to See the Fruits, Flow ers, and Vegetables, the Trotting Ruces and the Bicycle Contest-Lots of Fun and Many Pretty Strin on the Grounds. MIRROLA, L. I., June 18.-The summer exhibition of the Queens County Agricultural Seciety that was scheduled to open yesterday, but did not, owing to the storm, opened to-day. The wd did not begin to arrive in large numbers until toward noon. When the weather promised to be fair the people looked out of their homes, and it was not long before every highway leading to Mineola was crowded with teams. each bearing a jolly party to the county fair. The trains did their share, and by the time the trotting card was ready the grand stand and the open space along the homestretch of the half mile track were well filled with spectators. Pretty girls were everywhere, and they kept the peanut men busy throughout the day.

The rain yesterday gave the judges of the exhibits a chance to work without interruption, and they completed their labors early this morning. The winners of the first premiums offered for the principal exhibits were:

Vegetables-Best variety of vegetables, Park Goodwin, Roslyn; ten varieties of potatoes, John S. Hennessy, Roslyn; collection of turnips, Walter R. Willetts, Roslyn; collection of early peas, A. L. Van Nostrand, Elmont; three cauliflowers, Ferdinand Boulon, Sea Cliff; collection of cabbage, Walter R. Willetts; collection lettuce. Walter R. Willetta.

Fruit-Best collection of strawberries, Walter R. Willetts; fifty berries of any variety, Walter R. Willetts; fifty heaviest berries, Ferd Boulon, Sea Cliff; plate gooseberries, Ferd Boulon; largest number varieties ripe currants, Felix G. Mense, Glen Cove; single bunch grapes, Felix G. Mense; hothouse grapes, Felix G. Mense; figs, E. R. Ladew, Glen Cove; plate of winter apples, Charles F. Willetts; ripe cherries, Ferd Flowers-Twenty greenhouse plants, E. B. Ladew, Glen Cove; six orchids, P. H. Scudder, Glen Head; six ferns, E. R. Ladew; six palms, P. H. Scudder: twelve gerantums, George Rogers, Hempstead; collection of roses, Ford Boulon; Marechal Niel roses, Walter R. Willetts; collection of carnations, C. Bissold, Mincola; collection of paneles, Mrs. Lewis, Mincola; foral design, C. Bissoid; vase of flowers, C. Bissoid; two-hand bouqueta, C. Bissoid; single apecimen plant, Carrie A. Hicks, Roslyn; collection of ornamental foliage plants, Mary Esther Titus, Mineola; collection of ferns, Carrie A. Hicks, Roslyn; collection of begonias, William Pride, Mineola; variety of cut flowers, Carrie A. Hicks, Collection of cut roses, Brs. W. T. Price, Glen Cove; collection of roses, Mrs. Price; collection of lilies, Mrs. John Willetts, Hempstaad; collection of sweet William, William Pride, Mineola.

There was an extensive display of farming machinery. Windualis vied with patent ploughs and churns that were guaranteed not to make any woman's back ache. Hay rakes and hay cutters glistened in the sunlight. These features of the fair attracted the attention of the practical farmers, who lingered among the implements and discussed their merits until the trotting commenced; then the farm fimblements, as well as every other exhibit, were deserted.

The race track was the centre of attraction. It was in excellent condition despite the recent floral design, C. Bissoid; vase of flowers, C. Bisdescribed.

The race track was the centre of attraction. It was in excellent condition despite the recent heavy rains and the sport was lively and interesting. The interest centred in the 2:25 class, there being fourtien starters. It took four heats to decide the race, and it might have taken several additional heats had not the judges, in the fourth place. She won the heat, but broke five times, and under the rules of the National Trotting Association the judges were compelled to set her back. That gave the heat and race to Madras. The race for horses owned in QueensCounty dwindled back. That gave the heat and race to Madras. The race for horses owned in QueensCounty dwindled down to two contestants after the third heat. Smith D. won the first two heats and looked like a winner. When the horses were called out for the third heat the judges took the driver of Grey Dick out of the suiky and had another man put in his place. It was asserted that the horse had been pulled in the two heats trotted, and as he won the three succeeding heats easily, the asswrtion was evidently not without some foundation.

The one-mile blcycle race caused lots of excitement. It was the first race on Long Island under the new L. A. W. rules, and Alexander Schwallsach, the official referee, was in charge. In the final heat Nat Roe and Eston fell while going around one of the turns. Both escaped injury.

Murder, Perhaps, Over Crape,

While a party of colored men were playing craps on Wednesday evening in James Smith's saloon at 432 Second street, Jersey City, a dis-pute arose between Levi Carter, 24 years old, of 356 Third street, and Thomas Baunders, who lives over the saloon. Eventually Saunders drew a knife and plunged it up to the hilt into Carter's right side. Carter sank to the floor. Some of the men ran out into the street and shouted "Murder!" They were arrested, but flaunders escaped in the confusion. Carter was taken to the City Hospital. It was found that the knife had penerrated his lung. He was in a critical condition last night.

Dock Master Palmstein Dropped.

The Dock Commissioners cut off the head of another dock master yesterday. Economy is the cause alleged, and not the inefficiency of the official. There are now but fifteen dock masters in the employ of the department. Up to last week there were eighteen, two men having been dropped at the last meeting. Edward Gearg, one of the men discharged at the last week's meeting, was reinstated yesterday. He is a veteran. Henry Painstein was dropped in his stead. He was a holdover from the old

SMALL BOY CRIMINALS.

Mt. Vernon's Child Burgiare-One of Them

MOUNT VERNON, N. Y., June 18.-Three boys broke into the clear store of Moses Watsky on South Fourth avenue two nights ago and plundered the place of cigars, tobacco, pipes, and small change. They are Eddie Magee, 7 years old: Eugene Moore, 10, and Eddie Aubrey, 11. A small window of the store opens about four feet above the ground into an alley. The youngsters got a soap box and Aubrey stood on it, arnashed in the glass, and slipped back the catch. Moore climbed on the shoulders of Aubrey to moshed in the glass, and slipped back the determination of the window and into the store. Eddie and Eugene followed him. Magee became frightened and began to cry. Moore placed his hand over the little fellow's mouth and told him he would kill him if he orled. Magee plucked up spirit and took active part in the raid. The boys threw the stuff through the windows into the alley. Afterward they buried their treasure in the rear of the stable in the next street.

Watsky reported the burglary to the police, but they could find no clue, until Policeman Lynch encountered little Magee toddling down the main street with a big Mexican cigar clinched in his teeth. "Where did you get that cigar?" asked Lynch. "From a friend, replied Magee; but he weakened, and in an hour the game burglars were in cells at Headquarters. When Magee was tocked up he said: "This is the first time I've been behind the bara. Ain't it funny? Spose I'll get twenty years."

The other two boys took things philesophically. Magee slone whimpered, and he only when Lynch took a box of cigarettes away from him. The police had the youngsters in custody two months ago, when they were arrested for stoning trains. They probably will be sent to the Catholic Protectory.

GAVE LAWYER KEATINGE THE LIB Then Dodged the Handbag and Invited Him to Go Outside to Settle Things. J. M. Keatinge is counsel for the Staten Island Electric Company and W. B. Rockwell is the President of the Midland Railroad Company. The two companies have been competing for on Staten Island for more than s year, Mr. Rockwell and Mr. Keatinge appeared before the Railroad Committee of the New Brighton trustees on Wednesday evening to argue over the franchise on Castleton avenue Lawyer Keatinge in his argument declared that the Midland Company representatives had shown a determination to build railroads with-out the consent of the authorities, and called out the consent of the authorities, and called them highwaymen.

Mr. Rockwell sprang to his feet and said that whenever Mr. Keatings add anything about the Midland Company he was compelled to refute his lies. Lawyer Keatings objected and asked the Chairman to protect him. There was a wordy war for a minute or two and then President Rockwell turned to the opposing lawyer and shouled.

and shouted;
"You are the damnedest liar on Staten Island

"You are the damnedest liar on Staten Island and I can prove it."

Mr. Keatinge asked what he meant, and again Mr. Rockwell said:

"You are a liar and I have the documents to prove it."

The lawyer became very red in the face, caught up a bag belonging to Lawyer Reynaud, counsel for the Midiand Company, and hurled it at Mr. Rockwell. The men were eight feet apart, at opposite ends of a table, but the lawyer's aim was true, and Mr. Rockwell invited the bag only by a quick duck of his head. Mr. Rockwell invited Keatinge to go outside and finish the light, but further hostilities were prevented.

Horses Fall in a Street Excavation. A team of horses attached to a National Express Company's wagon fell into a street excavation about ten feet square and ten feet deep as it came out of the American Express Company's stables at 8 Hubert street yesterday afternoon, and nearly crushed Thomas Sullivan, a laborer, of 253 Mulberry street, who was working in the bottom of the pit at the time. He ing in the bottom of the pit at the time. He was struck by the head of one and somewhat injured.

After a long delay, during which the horses kicked each other badly, they were hauled out with the aid of a derrick. The excavation into which the horses fell was unguarded, through neglect of Public Works Department employees.

"Hotel Keeper" Brodle Indicted.

Steve Brodle was indicted by the Grand Jury yesterday for violation of the Liquor Tax law. The complaint was made by Police Sergeant Albertson, who alleges that he bought some whiskey with a mock sandwich in Brodle's place in prohibited hours. Brodle says he has ten rooms and is entitled to serve drinks with meals. He was discharged by Magistrate Flammer on the same complaint in the Centre Street. There are sixty-five cases on the calendars of the various parts of the General Sessions for violation of the Lieuor Tax law to be tried to-day, but some is likely to be reached.

OUR SYMPATHY FOR CUBA

PERRY BELMONT EXPLAINS IT TO THE FRENCH.

a an Article in the Paris Tempe He Di cusses the Situation in the Island Itself and the Causes and Character of Ameriean Help for the Struggling Patriots, PARIS, June 18 .- The following article, published by the Hon. Perry Belmont in the Paris Temps, the principal diplomatic organ of Europe, is having an excellent effect in correcting false and unfavorable impressions on the Continent concerning the attitude of the United States Government:

"The recent judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States in the Horsa filibuste case, interpreting the penal law of 1818, punishing military expeditions against foreign Governments with whom the United States are on terms of peace and good neighborhood, is very important. It explains and defines the distinction in that law between mere shipments of munitions of war, animo commer cands, and military enterprises, animo adjumore definitely the description of the enterprises in aid of the Cuban insurrec-tionists with which he can order interference without making the officials who interfere liable in pecuniary damages in suits at law

The revoit in Cube is, I think, generally regarded in the United States as a desperate struggle for political possession and control of the island. How great a source of trouble to the United States that struggle may be! The loyalty of its government to the prescriptions of internaonal law, to treaty obligations, and to good neighborhood was significantly attested by the Queen Regent of Spain in her address to the Cortes very recently, as follows Despite the powerful efforts of a certain portion of the American people to thwart begun by those concerned in such enterprises. That has heretofore been an embarrassment for

Despite the powerful efforts of a certain portion of the American people to thwart the action of my Government the President and Government of the United States have maintained the friendly relations which have not ceased to exist between the two countries since the foundation of that republic.

"The distinction and reasons, therefore, here made between certain opinions will, I am sure, be obvious in France after a littite explanation and a few moments of reflection. The American people feel that the system and the method of colonial government now enforced in Cuba from Madrid are antiquated and unsuitable, and should be obsolete. That is an opinion, more or less strong such as Americans or Frenchmen may innocently entertain in regard to objectionable forms of foreign government. The Government at Madrid conceded the justice of the criticism. It was maturing reforms when the revolt began. It seems willing to establish reforms in Cuba as soon as the condition of the island will make reform feasible.

"The people of the United States are by inheritance, education, and conviction devoted to home rule. They would rejoice to see America all American, but as that cannot be at present they wish that the island of Cuba might be self-governing and orderly. Notwithstanding such earnest and sincere predispositions respecting the island at its door, the Government of the United States had maintained scrupulous abstinence and non-intervention in the pending conflict, excepting when the treaty rights of its own citizens have been invaded.

"The insurgents are conducting a formidable generally was in the sistend which wors than a contract of the con

BROTHERS DROWN TOGETHER.

They Come to Their Beath is the Breeks in the certain the control of t ing munitions of war to Cuba in little vessels not regularly clearing for an open Cuban port as it is for Spain to police the entire Cuban coast against smugglers.

"The recent case of the Competitor, a small schooner caught within Cuban waters while attempting to land a cargo of munitions of war, bought in the United States for the use of the insurgents and shipped furtively from the Florida coast, is an illustration, Public law did not require the United States to prevent that shipment unless it rose to the dignity of a military expedition. It seems to have been only a shibment on a small commercial vessel of a commercial cargo. The schooner could not defend itself or its cargo against capture.

"The distinction in public law between animo commercandi and animo adjuvandi may be narrow, but it exists. Diplomatists, publicists, and magistrates must recognize and apply it. Spain had the right of arrest in her jurisdictional waters of her cargo and all the individuals on board. In landing the cargo was condemned by her laws and the individuals were guilty of crime, but the United States could not punish the men criminally. The only offence they had committed against the law of the United States was embarking with a commercial cargo without a formal Custom House clearance. The cargo was innocent under the public law as to the United States, though not as to Cuba and Spain. The men seemed undountedly guilty of attempting to land the cargo on the Cuban coast. They were arrested, arraigned before a naval court martial, very summarily tried, found guilty, and, it is said, sentence of death was imposed. The sentence has not been executed.

"The interposition of President Cleveland in favor of such of the accused as are Americans was on two grounds—one that the accused were not tried in accordance with the ameliorations of the treaty of 1795 conceded by Spain to the United States in 1877, and the other that if guilty of smuggling munitions of war death was too severe a sentence. The first ground is a question of treaty

THURSDAY, June 18, The London market for American railway shares not only failed to respond this morning to the advance in prices at the close here yesterday, but foreign operators sold stocks in this market. They were apparently influenced in part by the comments of certain English papers unon the political situation in the United States, and also by the latest Venezuelan incident. The local speculation was ripe for a feating, and the speculation was ripe for a reaction, as prices have advanced practically without interruption for nearly a week, entirely upon professional buying. That buying has been based upon prospects that a sound-money platform would be adopted at St. Louis, and to-day's market may be regarded as evidence that the event had as usual, been discounted to the full extent of the purchasing power of the professional element. The natural reactionary tendency was taken advantage of during the last half of the day by traders of bearish inclinations who sought to bring about a decided depression in prices by tactica with which the Street has long been familiar.

There was a moderate falling off in the volume of trading in stocks and a very material. to the advance in prices at the close here yester-day, but foreign operators sold stocks in this

There was no support to the market except buying by shorts, for the outside public continues to avoid the speculation as though it had been "hoodooed." On the hasis of No. 7, coffee was sold here to-day to arrive in July at 1174c., store terms, which is 154c, under the present value of No. 7 on the spot. Is that sudden increase in the receipts at Bantos "the handwriting on

Yellow Fever in Matanzas,

HAVANA, June 18 .- An official report has been issued declaring that the statements to the efrect that an epidemic is prevailing in Matanzas have been greatly exaggerated. Surgeon-General Losada, who has just returned from an inspection in Matanzas, declares that there are only 69 cases of yellow fever and 280 cases of malaria there.
